TEAM TOURS THE CAPITAL

Thirty nine of Wilmington's football team, and nine cheerleaders toured the Capital in Washington D.C. yesterday afternoon, on the first day of Operation Washington, which is now an assured success.

First dreamed of by Scotty Laganas and friends, in his restaurant, 3 weeks before Thanksgiving, the trip started Tuesday evening at 10, as the team and girls left in two luxury buses, from Wilmington High School. They were chaperoned by three men and two ladies, Larry Cushing, Athletic Director, Asst Coach Dick Keady, and Leonard Gagnon, teacher in the Glen Road school, and Mrs Louis A Maglio of Glendale Circle and Mrs Frederick Burnham of Birchwood Road No. Wilmington. Both of the ladies have daughters in the Cheerleaders.

The youngsters were met by Walter P. Kennedy, Administrative Assistant to Congressman Brad Morse, and he has made arrangements for them to tour the FBI offices and the Bureau of Engraving and Printing.

Although no confirmation had been received at press time, Dave Powers, Confidential Assistant to President Kennedy and Brother in Law to Police Chief Paul Lynch is arranging, if possible, a tour of the White House, a la Powers, with possibly a meeting with the President.

The youngsters are staying at the Ambassador Hotel, in Washington, where they arrived at 10 am Wednesday. The first thing they did was to hire bathing suits and go for a swim in the hotel's heated bathing pool.

They are expected to return to Wilmington between 7 and 9 am Saturday.

The committee in charge, Scotty Laganas Chairman, George Spanos, Co-Chairman, and Tony De Luca, Treasurer, raised a total of $2955.06 for the trip which pays for everything, and gives each of the youngsters some pocket money for the trip.

A large group saw them off Tuesday night, parents, and friends, including School Committeeman George Robertie, who saw them off.

ALLEGED TO HAVE PASSED 300 CHECKS

An alert sales girl, and an equally alert store manager, Tuesday evening led to the seizure of a man who is described by Wilmington Police as having passed about 300 phony checks, in New Jersey and New York.

Harry Bratton, about 35 years old, was seized in Wilmington Square by Officers Charles Dolan and Pat Leonard. He gave a Boston Hotel for his address.

Bratton was arraigned in Woburn Court Wednesday morning, and the case was continued until next Wednesday. He is being held in lieu of $2000 bail, with the Police expecting the New Jersey authorities to seek rendition to that state.

Bratton last week was said to have gone into Simon's Department Store, at the Wilmington Plaza, and passed three checks which proved worthless.

He was seen in the store Tuesday evening by one of the sales girls. Daniel Traficante, Manager of the store, tried to seize him but he escaped to the parking lot, where he jumped into a 1956 Buick, with New Jersey plates, and drove off.

Traficante pursued in his own car, and caught up to him in Wilmington Square, where Bratton had stopped for the traffic lights.

FINE SNOW

PLOWING JOB

The heaviest Christmas snow storm in 50 years saw the Town of Wilmington in much better condition than most of the contiguous towns - but also left an aftermath of favoritism charges.

A total of 19 inches of snow fell in Wilmington, Saturday and Sunday, forcing many who planned to travel to stay home and disrupting the usual attendance of Christmas services in the churches.

Attendance in the Protestant Churches was down about 50% of the expected total, in the morning services, and in the Catholic Churches afternoon Masses were sung for parishioners who could not attend the morning Masses to still attend.

The Highway Department started shortly after midnight Sunday morning, so that most of Wilmington's streets were at least passable on Sunday morning. The crews were knocked off at 6 pm and returned again at midnight, during which time about 7 inches of snow fell, making travel for those attending midnight church service extremely hazardous.

Meanwhile charges of favoritism were coming into the Town Crier office, with some residents saying that they intend to see the Selectmen at their next meeting.

Four separate stories, none of which were investigated by the Town Crier, lay some possible credence to the charges.

Nunn Road, off Kelley Road, the Town Crier was told, was not only not plowed, but the snow plows packed snow across the entrance. The street is unaccepted, but Wilmington has always plowed unaccepted roads to ensure that the Fire and Police can get access.

The worst incident reported to the Town Crier was Buckingham Street, off Aldrich Road, (formerly known as Commonwealth Ave), an unaccepted street about 1000 feet long. The only family to live on the street is that of a disabled veteran, and his wife had to shovel out a path before a passing private plow could be obtained to clear the way.

Emanuel Cordeiro told the Town Crier that town trucks have always plowed the street before, but not this year.

Cypress Street, an accepted street off Glen Road was another that was by-passed by the Highway Department, and, according to one resident, it was deliberate. Unaccepted streets in the neighborhood were plowed. Residents allege that the street was deliberately overlooked, and only plowed later, after protests had been made.

A fourth street was on Kelley Hill, a private way called Dunmore Road.

Mrs Paul F Olson told the Town Crier that a Town Employee whom she named plowed the street as far as the first driveway, and then parked the truck while he went in to the house for a cup of coffee, leaving the road blocked.

She states that when she asked "How about the rest of the street?" she was told: "Go dig it out yourself!"

STICKERS GO ON BOTTOM OF WINDSHIELD SAYS CHIEF

Chief of Police Paul Lynch has issued a last minute reminder to motorists that the 1962 Windshield Stickers, to show that a car is properly registered are to be on the bottom edge of the windshield, and not on top, as formerly.

BOOKMOBILE

The Bookmobile will call at Hathaway Acres Tuesday, January 2 at 2:45 p.m. Please note change of day.

SOME OF THE BOYS WHO WENT

Capt Eddie Woods, seated on the table in a white coat, with some of the boys of the unbeaten 1961 Wilmington football team, who are now in Washington. It is believed that this is the first time a town the size of Wilmington ever sent the entire team, plus cheerleaders on such a long trip.

WINNER OF 5 STATE & REGIONAL AWARDS

A WIEHNACHTSFEST IN WILMINGTON

In the far off land of Sweden there is a province known as Skona. It has absolutely nothing to do with Wilmington except that a man named Wiberg once emigrated from Skona and that three of his descendants, Sven, David and Hugo moved into Wilmington in the past year.

They found another man named Wiberg living here (no relative) and that gives Wilmington the slight distinction of having twice as many Wibergs in the telephone directory as there are in the New York City directory.

Now it seems that the Wiberg parents were in the Salvation Army and that the Wiberg boys learned at an early age to play the trumpets, a lesson they learned well.

Last Saturday night, in company with brother John of Burlington, and brother-in-law Charles Fahey of Woburn they essayed upon the streets of Wilmington for a little Christmas music.

The Town Crier caught up with them at their last stop - the home of the Rev. Rudolf Krey, a neighbor to Hugo, on Andover Street.

Naturally there was an invitation to come in and naturally the Krey children insisted that father sit with the Wibergs and be serenaded.

While this was being done some of the girls went out into the kitchen to prepare goodies, while others of the family crowded around to look at the polaroid pictures the Town Crier was taking.

And when the music was over, the Kreys and the Wibergs went into the dining room for a little repast. The Rev. Mr. Krey told the story of the Christ Child, and the girls served a real German Wiehnachtsfest, which is the repast one eats in Germany on Christmas Eve.

After which the Wibergs played Stille Nacht and the girls sang in German.

It was a simple little evening, of the kind that hardly exists in our today of radio and TV, and somehow, while the Wibergs and the Kreys were celebrating in the old fashioned manner, we would like to believe that up above the low-hanging clouds, silhouetted against the moon, a strange vehicle could possibly be seen, and a merry voice could be heard crying:

On Donner! On Blitzen!

SCENES FROM THE CHRISTMAS FESTIVAL

The Christmas Festival of a week ago, by the Wilmington High School and Evening School, was one of the most popular events of the week.

In this column the Town Crier presents a few snapshots taken at a showing of the Festival last Friday, for High School students. It was shown several times, but without the Senior Choral Group of the Evening School.

One of the highlights was the respect and affection shown by the students to Miss Kalil, music director, when she appeared.

NOREEN CANALAS AND ACCORDION

Miss Noreen Canalas plays an accordion while the High School Choral Group listens in absolute silence.

BRASSES IN THE FINE HIGH SCHOOL BAND
Notice the intense looks on the faces of the tuba players.

MORE BRASSES

The second player from the left is Bobby Curtis, who plays a solo piece to which the students all respond enthusiastically, during sports events.

AND WOODS

It's just too bad that the Town Crier is not able to show all the band. It's one of the finest.
